STAT

I received your 26 October 1975 letter from [redacted] and was pleased to learn of your escape from the tragic circumstances that prevailed in South Vietnam in April. I regret to inform you that the Agency no longer has positions requiring your specific skills and experience. [redacted] has an extensive network of commercial air transportation and I would suggest that you explore the possibility of employment there before deciding to leave your new home [redacted]

Director
Central Intelligence Agency
Washington D.C. 20505

Sir,

First of all I would like to apology for bothering you with this personal letter since you are very busy at the present time. But this is an emergency for my family and myself as Vietnamese refugees and I know that I may need help only from you to get out of my problem.

[Redacted]

STAT

My family and I have evacuated from Vietnam just before the V.I.C. take-over and we are sponsored by an old friend to start a new life [Redacted] I have a job now but the living standards [Redacted] are especially too high and with a family of eight members (my wife, myself and my six children) I cannot afford to live here any longer with my incomes. Because of this reason I intend to find another Sponsor [Redacted] whom may give me and my family a chance to move back to resettle over there.

I am writing this letter to you with all the hope that you can give me an opportunity to work for you in Washington D.C. or to introduce me to have a job with any Commercial Airlines in the mainland.

With my personal regards please Sir, accept my thankfulness and my reconnaissance. I hope also that I may hear from you soon.

Respectfully yours,

[Redacted]
